To whom it may concern,

After many years of travel and using ground transportation in cities near and far, I discovered Uber. On a recent trip, my daughter used Uber and said she had a great experience. My wife and I used the Uber system in Baltimore last week and we were more than impressed with the professionalism, efficiency, clean cars, fair rates, and easy payment system. We used Uber five times on this recent trip, and found it to be consistently exceptionally better than our previous experiences with the "Super-Shuttle" and Cab rides. The drivers expressed their happiness with the system, compensation, and the safety the system creates for both riders and drivers. I would recommend the Uber system to others, and would prefer that my children use this system when traveling over other traditional ground transportation services. The Uber system just makes sense, and makes ground transportation, easy, safe, and stress free. It just works.

I was pleased to hear the Uber system was also in my home state of SC, and specifically in my Greenville community. I'm disappointed that the same weekend I returned from Baltimore, bragging about how good our experience with Uber had been, the local news affiliates were reporting that SC was shutting Uber down. I do not claim to know all of the requirements to operate a service like this, but I do support the Uber concept and ask that you work diligently to negotiate a solution with Uber, and that you quickly reinstate this innovative community service.

Best regards,
Greg Crowe

Stand up for me.....removing ridesharing from South Carolina hurts thousands of small business entrepreneurs like me who rely on the platform to make a living, create new jobs and contribute to the economy.

To whom it may concern:

As a UBER rider in several locations around the country, I can attest to their professionalism and commitment to safety and customer service.
Please reconsider your action of 15 January, 2015.
